DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 03/13/03 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mouissie (EP 0 415 489).

Mouissie (Figure 3) show a system for connecting a male member 1 to a female member 4 with both members displaceable along an axis lying in a plane, the male member having a pair of first projections 3 each with one end fixed to the male member and the other end resiliently movable relative to the male member and having a protrusion 9 at its tapered tip. Each of the projections 3 has a pair of first faces. The female member has a pair of C-shaped grooves (not numbered, each groove having a larger groove portion in communication with a smaller groove portion) with cavities wherein the grooves are parallel to the axis, protrusions engage the cavities for latching the two members together and the grooves have side surfaces slidably confronting the first faces of the projection 3 to prevent relative displacement of two members perpendicular to the plane. Figures 1 and 3 also shows a pair of second projections (on two sides of the first projections) with a pair of second faces sliding engaging faces of the groove (larger groove portion) to prevent relative displacement of two members perpendicular to the plane. The second projections are rigidly fixed to the male member. The two members, when fitted together, have a common axis and centered about this common axis. The resiliency of the projections would absorb vibration. The protrusions 9 are visible through the cavities.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but are not persuasive. Both pair of projections on Mouissie's male member has a pair of faces, which slidingly engage the faces (sides) of the grooves in the female member to prevent relative displacement of two members perpendicular to the plane.
